From 18th to 24th September, 2011, in the City of Coimbra in Portugal, we would like to offer you a whole week to analyse Nursing Education in the world, with a special emphasis on Iberoamerican and Latin-American nursing education. It is the 11th Iberoamerican Conference on Nursing Education which, under the theme of “Internationalization of Nursing Education and Research”, will gather hundreds of professionals and students from dozens of countries.

This meeting is organized by the Nursing School of Coimbra (ESEnfC) and the Health Sciences Research Unit - Nursing in collaboration with the Latin-American Association of Schools and Colleges of Nursing (ALADEFE).

ALADEFE (www.aladefe.org) is an international, non-governmental institution founded in La Habana City (Cuba) on October 1st, 1986, within the scope of the First Conference of Colleges and Schools of Nursing in Latin America, and it is supported by the Union of Latin American Universities (UDUAL).

It is an association which promotes cooperation and study (as established by Articles 32 and 34 of the UDUAL Statutes), and it emerged as an association of integration of shared and common interests and aims related to the populations’ healthcare needs.

This Iberoamerican Conference on Nursing Education is organized every two years. Since 1986, this scientific meeting has been organized in nine countries: Cuba (twice), Ecuador, Bolivia, Peru, Mexico, Colombia, Chile, Spain and Panama (from October 26th to 30th, 2009, Panama organized the 10th Conference on Nursing Education, under the theme “Constructing new horizons in Nursing”). This time it will be organized in Portugal by the Nursing School of Coimbra.

During the 11th Iberoamerican Conference on Nursing Education of ALADEFE, there will be seminars, short duration courses, meetings of international nursing networks, visits to health institutions of the centre region, presentation and release of books, a students’ meeting and a showcase of schools and colleges of nursing, in which we expect to have representatives from various continents.

With around 80 speakers already confirmed, coming from different countries, and 1706 scientific communications approved for presentation, this Iberoamerican Conference on Nursing Education will be an excellent opportunity for teachers, students and health professionals to share research, knowledge, experiences and practices with pedagogical and social interest.

The technical cooperation between countries (particularly within the Iberoamerican area) is also a major aim of this conference, thus promoting the sharing of experiences in the area of education so as to improve nurses’ training.

09:00 - 13:00 | Education in Nursing Care for the patient with pain
Sala Maior > Campus A
Luis Manuel da Cunha Batalha (Nursing School of Coimbra, Portugal);
Ananda Maria Fernandes (Nursing School of Coimbra, Portugal)

This course aims to identify the difficulties in health care practice and the strategies used in nursing training to care for the patient in pain at the level of initial, continuous and workplace training.
The methodology used will be a workshop to share and discuss training experiences in the area of pain.
Pain is a transversal experience in health care. Its multidimensional nature requires an individualized, multimodal and holistic approach, and its theoretical knowledge is not always translated into the practice of health care. Multiple factors contribute to this hiatus, with training (initial, continuous and in the workplace) being of fundamental importance to solve this gap between knowledge and practice.

COURSE IN PORTUGUESE - No simultaneous translation

09:00 - 13:00 | Learning by mediation
Room 1.5 > Campus A
Manuel Alves Rodrigues (Nursing School of Coimbra, Portugal)

In this course, the trainer will provide a theoretical presentation of the major models that guide the practice of constructed and mediated learning (mediation nebula). From a theoretical-practical perspective, we will analyse the specific strategy of pedagogical advisory of personal projects aiming at the personal and professional development of nursing students.
The theoretical and theoretical-practical development will be followed by plenary discussion, integrating participants' different perspectives about the models being analysed and their contribution to the development of nursing education.

Verónica Rita Dias Coutinho (Nursing School of Coimbra, Portugal)

María de Jesús Ros (University of Cantabria)

Inmaculada de la Horra Gutierrez (University Hospital Marques de Valdecilla and University of Cantabria)

Silvia González Gómez (University of Cantabria)

In a curriculum expected to be focused on the development of skills by nursing students, the practical dimension in a simulated context is essential. With high-fidelity simulators, spaces, materials and devices and with the support of technologies of sound, image and information, it is now possible to develop in the school real experiences of clinical simulation. These experiences of clinical simulation, together with a structured discussion focused on learning outcomes, students have a lot of advantages. The aim of this course is to develop knowledge and competences necessary to prepare and manage simulated clinical experiences for nursing education. The course will have theoretical moments, using active methods, and practical moments. The following issues will be developed: general concepts, space and devices for a simulated clinical experience, development and driving of scenarios and debriefing. The course will take place in Campus A of the Nursing School of Coimbra, using a classroom and a Simulation Centre.

Objectives:
To identify Peer Education methodology as a double-empowerment strategy for youth; to reflect about the advantages and challenges of Peer Education in developing healthy settings and nursing skills.
Peer Education makes use of positive peer influence as pedagogic strategy whereby trained and motivated people undertake formal/informal activities with their peers.
The group of Peer Educators “Atelier de Expressividade” (Coimbra, PT) has developed in school and recreation context, since 2002, activities aimed to reduce abusive consumption of psycho-active substances and promotion of healthy lifestyles showing positive outcomes. Furthermore, the Nursing School of Coimbra (ESEnfC) has already concluded official agreements and effective collaboration in Peer Education with the University of Rio de Janeiro and the University of Cape Verde. Under the ESEnfC coordination, in 2007, we held a training course for Peer Education Facilitators. 15:00 - 19:00 | Nursing training on alcohol: prevention of inappropriate consumption - intervention programs
Sala Maior > Campus A
Teresa Maria Barroso (Nursing School of Coimbra, Portugal) - coordinates the course
Maria Gloria Wright (Organization of American States, Head of the Department of Education Development and Research)
Ângela Mendes Abreu (Public Health School of the Nursing School Anna Nery, Federal University of Rio de Janeiro)

Excessive alcohol consumption is a major source of social, economic and health problems. Brief interventions (BI) are low in cost and have proven to be effective across the spectrum of alcohol problems (Babor and Higgins-Biddle, 2001). There have been numerous randomized clinical trials of brief interventions in a variety of health settings, finding that BI were often as effective as more extensive treatments (Bien et al., 1993; Kahan et al., 1995; Wilk et al. 1997).
Despite the evidence for their usefulness, however, brief interventions for alcohol-related problems have not yet been widely implemented in Portugal primary care settings. This course aims to make people aware of the prevention of alcohol-related problems, identify the difficulties in clinical setting and present intervention protocols in the scope of Alcohol-related problems.
Objectives:
- To identify tools to assess and detect alcohol-related problems.
- To identify the interventions to be developed according to the levels of risk identified.
- To analyse the reasons underlying the development of brief interventions.

Contents:
Epidemiology of Alcohol-related Problems.
Levels of risk – harmful consumption, abuse and dependence.
Assessment tools (AUDIT)
Intervention protocol according to level of risk – Education; Simple Advice and Brief Intervention (referral to specialist nurse in Mental Health and Psychiatry).

Teaching Methodology:
Workshop to present and discuss problem situations.

14:00 - 17:00 | Study Visit to the Coimbra University Hospitals, EPE
The Coimbra University Hospitals are the largest hospital unit in the Central region of Portugal and they stand as a reference in the country’s differentiated health care, with a staff of approximately 5400 people. This is a Public Hospital, integrated in the National Health Services. It provides direct care to the population of part of the city of Coimbra and of the Central Region of Portugal. The hospital stands as a reference in various Medical and Surgical Specialties, both nationally and internationally. It has a large variety of clinical specialties, including an Emergency Department. It is an institution with differentiated functions in terms of healthcare provision, undergraduate, post-graduate and continuous training, and scientific research, which are based on its professionals’ up-to-date scientific and technical knowledge and on the innovation and development of its own therapeutic and technological methodologies. In this visit, we will see the Cardiothoracic Surgery Department and the Endocrinology and Rheumatology Departments.

14:00 - 17:00 | Study Visit to the Hospital Centre of Coimbra, EPE - General Hospital
The General Hospital, also known as Covões Hospital, is one of the three health institutions which belong to Coimbra’s Hospital Centre, EPE. It is a public hospital, integrated in the National Health Service. It provides direct assistance to the population of part of the city of Coimbra and of the country’s Central Region. The hospital is a reference for many Medical and Surgical Specialties, both nationally and internationally. It has a wide variety of clinical specialties, including a General Emergency Department. Located on the left bank of the River Mondego, the S. Martinho do Bispo Health Centre, the Higher School of Health Technology and the Nursing School of Coimbra (Campus B) are nearby. Inaugurated on April 27th 1973, the General Hospital of the Portuguese Colony of Brazil was composed of a group of buildings which were built during the first decades of the 20th century, between 1918 and 1930, in order to create a school-asylum which would take in and educate orphans of dead World War I soldiers. Since it was never used for this purpose, the buildings were converted into an anti-tuberculosis sanatorium for male individuals, which dealt with one the concerns regarding assistance at the time. In February 1932, the Assistance of the Portuguese Colony of Brazil donated its patrimony to the Portuguese government, converting it into a hospital-sanatorium. This visit will consist of a presentation on SAPE (Support System for Nursing Practices), followed by a visit to the Hospital. SAPE aims to deal with and organize the information processed during nursing actions. Using this application, the nursing professional can: check the work plan for the expected intervention regarding a specific situation which is included in the nursing team’s programme; note down/check the patient’s symptoms; note down/check the nursing interventions based on the diagnosis made; check/note down the work plan drawn up by the system based on the clinical information which was added; as well as check the parameterization and codification table of the nursing activity.

14:00 - 17:00 | Study Visit to the Portuguese Institute of Oncology - Coimbra - Francisco Gentil, EPE
Integrated in the network of healthcare provision of the National Health Services, the Portuguese Institute of Oncology, Coimbra - Francisco Gentil, E.P.E. is a hospital unit which focuses on the diagnosis and treatment of oncological diseases. It is at the service of all of the Central Region of Portugal, with a population of approximately two and a half million inhabitants. The institution’s top position in the set of highly regarded oncological units bestows it with a significant amount of differentiated technological and human resources. It has a maximum of 231 beds, a “hotel” for patients and an innovative structure in terms of healthcare provision in Portugal. The visit will begin with a presentation of the Institution and its Services, following which we will see the Head and Neck Surgery Department/Urology, the Radiotherapy Department, the Medical Oncology Department, the Palliative Care Department and the Ostomy Department.
14:00 - 17:00 | Study Visit to the Hospital Centre of Coimbra, EPE - Paediatric Hospital
The Paediatric Hospital is one of the three health institutions which belong to Hospital Centre of Coimbra, EPE.
It has been granted university status through an agreement signed with Coimbra’s Faculty of Medicine, and is innovative in diverse areas of paediatrics. Throughout the years it has proven to be a very prestigious unit of assistance and a centre which is a national reference in terms of the paediatric treatment of complex or rare pathologies.
The premises where it was located up until recently were used for many different purposes throughout history: first it was a convent, later on an asylum for the blind and the cripple, and then a hospital-sanatorium for women and children with tuberculosis. When its mission in this area of care came to an end, and after going through significant difficulties, the reconversion and adaptation of the building into a hospital for children happened in June 1977.
The Paediatric Hospital's new building, which was recently inaugurated, has distinct areas to care for younger children and for teenagers up to the age of 18, and provides for a population of 500 thousand users.
Telemedicine, especially associated to paediatric cardiology, is in great expansion in terms of the Community of Portuguese-Speaking Countries.
The visit will consist of a general presentation in the Auditorium, followed by a visit to the Emergency, Surgery, Orthopaedics, Medicine and Outpatient services.

In the health centre, care is provided to adults, children, adolescents and older people, users' health is promoted and monitored, early diagnosis activities are developed, family planning, follow-up of pregnant women and children's development, health education in schools, homes and in the health centre itself. This Health Centre is responsible for Public Health in its area.
The Health Centre Norton de Matos is located in the City of Coimbra and its influence area is mainly urban. It is part of the Group of Health Centres of Baixo Mondego I which is composed of 7 health centres.

14:00 - 17:00 | Study Visit to the Hospital Centre of Coimbra, EPE - Maternity Hospital Bissaya Barreto
The Maternity Hospital Bissaya Barreto is one of the three health institutions which belong to Coimbra’s Hospital Centre, EPE.
Inaugurated on April 28th 1963, this institution has always aimed to provide health care to mothers and to ensure the child's follow-up and development. It was installed in a building that was built for this effect, and also provided Social Care with a boarding school for children at risk, a nursery school and a kindergarten. At the time, Bissaya Barreto wanted to organize a maternal-infant assistance institution where one could find a balance between the “scientific spirit, the social spirit and the spirit of charity...”, as was expected in a hospital prepared for the future.
Located on the right bank of the river, the Maternity Hospital Bissaya Barreto is part of the Maternal-Infant Reference Network, being, simultaneously, a hospital which provides perinatal support (a reference for 21 health centres of the Coimbra Sub-Region of Health) and a hospital which provides differentiated perinatal support (a reference for the hospitals in Castelo Branco, Figueira da Foz and Leiria).
